

The Aging Body: Ask the Experts

- 9/4: Does a Heart Attack Mean My Heart is Failing?

- Dr. Paul R. Burns is a cardiologist in Brunswick, Maine and is affiliated with Mid Coast Hospital. He received his medical degree from Boston University School of Medicine, his Residency at Boston Medical Center, and his Cardiology Fellowship at Rhode Island Hospital. He is Board Certified in Cardiovascular Disease and has been in practice for more than 20 years. He has expertise in treating hypertension & high blood pressure, coronary artery disease, heart failure, among other conditions - see all areas of expertise.

- 9/11: How Does the Aging Process Occur?

- Lisa Yeh, DO, is an internal medicine physician and geriatrician at MaineHealth Medical Group Primary Care Practice in Bath, Maine. After earning her Doctor of Osteopathic Medicine degree from the University of New England and her undergraduate degree in biology from Syracuse University, she went on to complete her residency in internal medicine at Maine Medical Center. She returned there for her specialization in geriatric medicine by completing a part-time fellowship while continuing to practice in primary care. Dr. Yeh has a diverse background that includes global health work with the Peace Corps, clinical research, and medical education. Her professional interests include memory assessments and dementia support, multidisciplinary approaches, and community focused care.

- 9/18: Piles of Pills: The Dangers of Polypharmacy

- Aaron Koch, PharmD, BCPS: Aaron is the Clinical Coordinator/PGY1 Pharmacy Residency Program Director for Maine Health. He graduated from the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and completed his residency at Maine Health Maine Medical Center. He loves to travel, play golf, and study astronomy. Mid Coast Hospital offers a unique, personal experience in which Aaron can collaborate closely with patients, clinicians, and the community.

- Sept 25: Sex After 70?

- Melissa Streeter, MD, is a board certified obstetrician gynecologist at MaineHealth Mid Coast Hospital for nearly 20 years. Dr. Streeter completed her residency at the University of California, San Francisco and is fellowship trained and board certified in urogynecology and minimally invasive gynecologic surgery. Her professional interests include advanced gynecologic surgery, pelvic health, and integrative approaches to women's care.

- Oct 2: It's All About the Joints!

- Lisa Khoury, MD, is a board-certified orthopedic surgeon at MaineHealth Mid Coast Hospital specializing in sports medicine. She received her undergraduate degree from Princeton University and earned her medical degree from the University of Pennsylvania, where she also completed her residency in orthopedic surgery. After residency, Dr. Khoury completed a sports medicine fellowship at NYU Hospital for Joint Diseases. She is an active member of national orthopedic societies, has published and presented extensively, and is recognized for her contributions to patient care and medical education.

- Oct 9: Air Moves In and Out: What Happens When It Can't?

- : Patrick Keaney, MD, is a pulmonary and critical care physician at MaineHealth Mid Coast Hospital. He earned his medical degree from the Medical College of Virginia/VCU after completing his undergraduate studies at the University of Notre Dame. Dr. Keaney completed his internal medicine residency at Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center and is board certified in Internal Medicine. His clinical and research interests include pulmonary disease, critical care, and end-of-life care, with multiple publications and presentations through the American Thoracic Society. He is an active member of the American Thoracic Society and the American College of Chest Physicians.